DETAILED ACTION

Status of the Claims

1. Cancellation of Claims 2, 3, 5-8, 10-12, 17,29,20, 23, 24, 26-28, 33-36 and 39; addition of new claims 43-47 in Applicants' filing of 4/23/2009 is acknowledged. Claims 1, 4, 9, 13-16, 18, 21-22, 25, 29-32, 37-38, and 40-47 are pending with claims 18, 21, 22, 25, 29-32 and 42 being withdrawn from examination as being drawn to non-elected subject matter. Claims 1, 4, 9, 13-16, 37-38 40-41 and 43-47 are examined herein.

Election/Restrictions

2. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

The peptides recited in claims 44-47.

3. Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.
4. The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

Recited peptides: Claims 44-47

5. The following claim(s) are generic: All claims are generic or include multiple species.
6. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

The common technical feature is the derivation of the sequences from HIV-1 gp41 protein. As such, they rely on and do not preclude the parental sequence, each of which was known in the prior art. For example, SEQ ID No.: 98 was derived from CM237, a clinical isolate obtained in Thailand in the 1990s the sequence of which was published prior to filing of the instant Application (Swanson, et al. Full-Length Sequence Analysis of HIV-1 Isolate CM237: A CRF01_AE/B Intersubtype Recombinant from Thailand. AIDS Res. Hum. Retroviruses. 2003; 19(8): 707-712). Because of prior knowledge of at least some of the species and the fact that the claims do not preclude context of the amino acid sequences comprising complete gp120, the species are not "special" according to the meaning of PCT Rule 13.1.

7. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

Art Unit: 1648

8. The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.
9. Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a). Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
